Example Appliance Price List

Managing the choice and cost of appliances is a very important part of your decision making. Appliances are a personal preference and our clients generally purchase them directly from the manufacturers of their choice. To help you assess the additional costs when purchasing a new Kitchen, we have compiled a list of the appliances used in our illustrated designs. Example RRP's were correct in January 2020.

You may consider reusing some appliances from your present Kitchen. We will handle and install your current appliances into new cabinetry. We ask that they are cleaned, free from food residue and grease. We will be extremely careful handling your appliance, but please be aware if the appliance does not function once installed, we do not accept any liability and there would be a charge to refit a new appliance.
